Celebrating Our Club ~ Planning For Our Future

We all are proud of our Irish American Club East Side – where we are now and where we have come from. We want to make sure that the best days of our club are in the future. With that in mind a committee has been established to help us look at what we can do to ensure that we continue to build on the legacy that was handed down to us.

The Executive Board appointed Gerry Quinn and Sr. Maureen Burke as co-chairs of the committee. They have recruited a small group to act as a steering committee: P.J. Conway, Meg Cosgriff, Mickey Coyne, Bruce Gregg, Bree Gurry, Christine Harris, Jonathan Holody, Tim Murphy and Tim Neary.

At the steering committee's initial meeting, it was decided that the first step should be to gather data from our members. A survey has been created to collect feedback on various aspects of the club. The survey can be completed online, or by completing paper copies available in the Schanachie or at the club. The deadline to complete the survey is October 1.

To access the survey on line, go to: <https://qrco.de/bgCBPd> or scan the QR code

Once the results of the survey are collected, the committee will recruit additional members to create sub-committees. These sub-committees will determine/research next steps. Progress reports will be given at each monthly meeting, with the goal of having a preliminary report ready for the membership by the May 2026 monthly meeting.

IACES ~ Celebrating Our Club ~ Planning for Our Future

As our club nears our 50th anniversary we celebrate all that IACES has accomplished! We are grateful for the past members who forged a plan and built this organization that focuses on our heritage. As we evaluate our current club (membership, activities, facilities) we want to plan for a future that is built on the legacy of the past. This is our club - this is your club. We need the advice and support of all. Let your voice be heard.

Book Buzz

Bonnie Easton

As promised, here is a selection of books that will provide you with a dose of murder and mayhem.

An Irish Bookshop Murder by Lucy Connelly is the first of four books in a series featuring bookstore owner Mercy McCarthy and her twin sister Lizzie. Their grandfather left them an antique bookshop in a tiny Irish village. Mercy finds her neighbor, a judge, as he is breathing his last breath on her doorstep, and he accuses Mercy of murdering him. With her sister's help, she must clear her name, and, as a budding mystery writer herself, she thinks she has the skills to do it. The other three books in the Mercy McCarthy series are Death by the Book, Death at Inishmore Castle, and Murder on the Clock.

Secrets, Lies and Murder by Cindy Kline features newlyweds Molly and Liam Fitzgerald as they start their new life together in Dooley, but Alaina Kincaid's sister has been missing for two weeks. Alaina asks them to help find Enya while Molly is trying to prepare for a book fair, but a bestselling author scheduled to speak has also disappeared. Her friend Finn, a leprechaun, adds his own brand of mischief to the troubles in the town. She needs to find two missing people, save the book fair, and keep her town from descending into chaos. Easy-peasy, right?

For a more hard-boiled approach to mystery, try Ken Bruen's eighteenth entry in his Jack Taylor series, Galway's Edge. Some of Galway's worst criminals are disappearing, thanks to the work of a vigilante group called Edge. Jack Taylor is an ex-cop who was dismissed for drinking on the job, so he is now a private detective for hire. The Vatican is displeased when they hear a rumor that a priest, Kevin Whelan, is now a member. Edge has killed a local pedophile, and Father Kevin is found hanged in the backyard in retaliation. More Edge members are marked for death. In the meantime, his clients are also asking for his help—Mother Superior wants to find a stolen jeweled crucifix, a battered wife needs protection, and a cancer victim asks him to kill him on his birthday. Just another day in the life of a private detective.

Bestselling author Joyce Carol Oates tells the fictional tale of Dr. Silas Weir. The story is based on a real-life physician who performed experimental gynecological surgeries on women in the 19th century. Oates sets her tale of horror in the 1840s at a New Jersey lunatic asylum for women. The drugs that Weir uses on his patients are laudanum, foxglove, mercury, belladonna, arsenic, and cocaine. His main treatment is phlebotomy (bloodletting), which sometimes causes death, to cure women's hysteria, and he performs surgeries without anesthesia. He delivers a baby for an albino Irish indentured servant named Brigit, who is deaf and mute, and takes the child from her. Obsessed with her, he uses her as his primary test subject. Weir calls himself the father of "Gyno-Psychiatry" and promotes himself as a pioneer surgeon. No one challenges him as he remains unchecked in his practice of medicine.

Glorious Exploits by Dublin-born author Ferdia Lennon is set in Syracuse, Italy, during the Peloponnesian War in 410 B.C.E., a war fought between the Greek city-states of Athens and Sparta.

The Syracusans herded Athenian prisoners into a rock quarry and left them there to die. Two unemployed potters, Lampo and Gelon, decide to feed them. Gradually, they hatch a plan to put on the play Medea by Euripides, but the production proves to be risky. The author relates the story with contemporary Irish vernacular. It makes for an amusing and moving story.

Books 80-76 in the Irish Times Best Irish Books of the 21st Century: Ordinary Human Feelings by Megan Nolan, A Long Long Way by Sebastian Barry, The Thing about December by Donal Ryan, Hawthorn & Child by Keith Ridgeway, and The Heart in Winter by Kevin Barry. A website for the complete list is: <https://746books.com/2025/03/17/the-100-best-irish-books-of-the-21st-century/> For more reading suggestions: www.padraicpearsecenter.weebly.com.

The Great Pretenders Show is Back This Fall

Mark your calendar for Saturday, November 22, 2025—the Great Pretenders are returning to the stage!

Do you love music, pretending, and having fun? Then we want you! No experience is needed—just bring your ideas, enthusiasm, favorite songs, and your best air guitar (or a real one, if you like).

Not interested in performing. We also welcome those who can assist with props, lighting, music, and other behind-the-scenes magic. Whether you sing in the shower or dance like nobody's watching, this is your chance to be part of a lively, high-energy show where pretend playing is serious fun.

An informational meeting will be held immediately after the Monday, September 8 General Membership Meeting.

For questions, contact Betty Cosgriff at bettycosgriff@outlook.com or call/text 216-701-4997.
